

Aaron, Lynda and Daniel
South Idaho Lesson #4
November 3, 2020

Aaron: Greetings friends, this is Aaron, wishing to provide you with our insight tonight, affectionately calling it our “election edition.” We recognize the various techniques you utilize to remain calm when you know quite well the seriousness of the issues being decided on this day and this week. Remember this, the hardships most difficult to bear are those which never occur, so as you move forward, think in terms of your relationship to the moment, to what is happening around you. Come from the attitude of “what can I do now, today, that will be productive?” As all things earthly can crash, the kingdom believer recognizes the tasks at hand and pursues those, regardless of the tumult, the chaos. What can you do today to aid in your growth and subsequently those around you in your communities and elsewhere?

You have made your voices heard regarding these decisions for you. Ponder how best you can use your time as these decisions get finalized. I say this to encourage you forward rather than sitting back and watching, because some things are in your control and some are not. The days ahead, regardless of the outcome, will require calm, collected, measured actions, graceful winning and losing, efforts to understand those who are different from you. These times you live in provide great opportunity for developing understanding and finding compassion, and yet standing strong for the truth and what is right. In this, you have been trained, and so we look forward to how you manifest coming out of these days ahead and moving forward into the uncertain, but eventful future you have before you. I will take this opportunity to step back and allow another to speak to you this evening. My friends, keep on in faith.

Lynda: I am Lynda. I am pleased to partner with Aaron in addressing you tonight. Given the circumstances of the evening, we felt it best to have the teachers with whom our students are most familiar speak, that there may be comfort in the connection, for indeed, many are seeking comfort on this evening/morning as results are awaited. This is the case not only in the United States, but across the world, for many are attuned to the importance of the decisions that have been made over the last weeks and days and which will be known in the upcoming time frame. The United States is a powerful force in the outworkings of planetary events, planetary economics, planetary health, and so on. So, the fortunes of many are tied to these results.

My dears, I encourage you to have faith, not only in our Father, Brother, Parents and the eventual upliftment and reclamation of this planet, but also have faith in your brothers and sisters to listen inward, to discern right and wrong, truth and error, falsehoods vs. facts. While people may learn at different speeds and free will allows for the rejection of truth by the individual, while greed is real and economic interests can prevail, the drive within each mortal being to grow, to seek truth, to become more, is also a real and driving factor.

Never lose this faith in one another, for while a short-term view might suggest an absence of those factors I just mentioned, over the long term a creature grows from the embryonic mortal state to perfection. So, continue to extend belief in one another's potentials; seek to work together as a community, to coordinate efforts of love, efforts of upliftment, and efforts at unification no matter the results of this election. On this point I wish to assure you that the efforts, the concerns, the driving interests that have been so highlighted heading into this time period, will play out and goodwill result. My friends there is one more here who wishes to address you tonight. One moment.

Daniel: My friends, I am Daniel, guide and teacher, desiring to share my heart with you this evening, to remind you that we are here, we are with you, we are pulling in the direction of Michael. And so, while our words are not intended to be profound, they are intended to bring comfort. Rest in the embrace of our Father/Brother. Rest in the knowledge of the great love of the First Source and Center, whose universe this is. No matter the result of the election, there will be those who are thrilled and those who are aghast. Remain a calm bridge that seeks unification. My love I leave with you this evening. Farewell.
