Into Your Hands

P.N. #6 Editorial

My spiritual life has changed since I first began to read Teacher Mission transcripts. They have confronted me with a spiritual challenge that is so exciting that it can not be ignored, that feels urgently important, and is filled with instructions that have proven to uplift my consciousness, my soul, and my desire to know and serve our Heavenly Father.

Sure, there have been lots of doubts along the way as to the validity of the Teaching Mission caused by the appearance of imperfect transmissions and wild predictions, and this has slowed my enthusiasm some what. Yet faith and hope have kept my mind open wide enough for the actual experience of Teacher contact to positively effect my universe outlook. With this newly enhanced view of my universe career, a real sense of spiritual renewal has lead to the realization that I am a member of the family of God and that my loving and active participation in this family was required immediately!

Before the Teaching Mission, I also had these feelings of belonging to the universe family, though not as intensely. The increase in personal belief and commitment that has come over me now, seems due to the spiritual lessons I needed and got from Michael's Teachers. The few minutes a day spent in quite contemplation has turned into a new world of communication and collaboration with spiritual forces working on and for Urantians.

These spiritual forces are for the most part just restating Jesus' teachings imparted while he was here on Urantia. They are encouraging, supportive, and validating, plus they give practical lessons on how to be a better human being and brother to my fellows. And the most important lessons of all, the ones with the most value and the ones that helped inspire action in me, are the lessons on understanding and feeling the presence of the Fragment of God within my soul. This growth of awareness of spiritual oneness with my Thought Adjuster is more valuable than how others may view me, or anything earthly, and I give thanks to all the beings, both human and divine, that have helped to bring about this new realization within me.

May Michael's Mission succeed. May God's will be done, and may love prevail!

Aloha

Ham on Happiness (TR-Rebecca) 2/18/96

Greetings friends, I am Ham. Tonight we are to discuss happiness. Where is true contentment, happiness of the heart, found? Always it seems to be elusive, and to come and go like a breeze. How do you achieve ascending levels of happiness in your lives? Happiness is found not in the doing, but rather in the being. Humans are greatly mistaken to think that acquisition of things or control or fame or power brings with it any degree of happiness. It does not. Your happiness lies within your selves. It comes not by artificial mood control techniques, the use of artificial stimulants or tranquilizers.

Happiness is really beyond your immediate control. Happiness is contained in contentment with the now. Both these ingredients are necessary for happiness to grow. First, you must learn to find now and then to be content with inhabiting now. When you find now and are content to be in the now, then you experience life fully and this time is happiness. For example, just now you all enjoyed some music and together enjoyed each other's company.

You make yourselves unhappy by thinking about what should be done, or what you should have done and so forth. The key to happiness is to be content with your circumstances, your wealth, your love life and so on. The key to happiness is in finding contentment with this moment, moment-by-moment. Give thanks for every moment you are, find love for your immediate circumstance, find something enjoyable in this now time.

You are all too easily annoyed. You wish to change circumstances too often. Recognize when you cannot control circumstance, relax, enjoy the moment, find something enjoyable. For example, the dog barking could be viewed as an annoyance, but consider, listen carefully to the sound, for you will not always hear this animal and you must cherish the memory only. Learn to appreciate sights and sounds, for you will not have them forever. Even the cold, the cold weather and snow, annoying as it is, consider there is no snow on the mansion worlds. The temperature stays within very tolerable bounds and you will not feel the biting cold on your skin there. Do not always wish for something different, rather experience what you are given in the time that you are given it. Find the now and you will experience life much more fully and completely.

Finally, do not be annoyed with each other. Appreciate your fellows foibles for they are also a part of their charm. For there to be love experience, there must be a difference. For the Father to love and be loved, there had to be separation. Personality is an unification of a unique configuration of God's own character. Think, now, would you change your fellows and thereby change God? The proper response to each other in life is instead to learn appreciation of uniqueness. Consider children, when you love God you must love all his children as well, for they are a part of His creation, a part of Him.

Norson on Judgment (TR David) 4/27/93

In judging ones self, or judging one another, a mate, a brother or sister, a friend, all judgments call for an examination, a comparison, and the rendering of an opinion, a conclusion, a decision and pronouncement of position. You are warned of the consequences of judging one another, that as you judge, so are you judged. In both situations, you are the judge, you place yourself in the unenviable position of having to decide who is doing a better job, who is living a more growth-filled life, who is more in touch with "correct reality". Try this on for size: judge if you can, the abused and only child of an alcoholic mother and an absentee father, or the homosexual fifth child of an inter-racial, middle-class, part atheist, part fundamental something else family? Take into consideration, the education, or lack of it, the love received or not received, the exposure to kindness, caring, good examples and good relationships, or none of the above. You are cautioned to not be judgmental because it is an extremely difficult and complicated endeavor. Judgment in a Universe is regarded as a highly intricate and involved process, requiring participation from the highest of places, by the highest of authorities. Which of you want to be the judge here? Who feels qualified to untangle the inequities of such diversities of origins and experiences as humankind is subject to live? To be able to compare the righteousness or wrongness of anyone's actions, you must first possess all the facts, at least a reflection about all events and experiences which played an intrigal part in forming the basis for the choices and the decisions that each individual must make for himself. No human is equipped, even in the least way, to make such judgments. You are not asked to do this, in fact you are cautioned not to do this, not because you will be punished or held accountable for judging your fellow adventurers, but because of all the confusion you will encounter in your mind, as you include yourself in these judgments. Help one another to make better decisions, choose higher goals, become better examples and live lighter, more gentle, more accepting lives with each other. Judge not, confuse not yourself, your brother or your sister. Contend not among yourselves as to which of you has less growing to do, who is the most advanced. All of you are freshly arrived, recently born universe citizens, just beginning to take your first steps on a near endless, near infinite journey. How is it possible to judge who is closer to the goal, closer to the finish line at the Father's front door? The reason we, your teachers and helpers, are so friendly and gentle and loving with you, is because we know how impossible judgments are, how confusing they become, both to ourselves, and to you who would receive this unfounded criticism from those of us you are coming to trust and accept as friends. As it brings more pleasure to give than to receive, know also, it is better to accept and reflect, than it is to accuse and reject. Become better friends with each other, be more supportive, more affirming of each others accomplishments, less critical of faults and shortcomings. Forget not to apply these acceptable, friendly gestures to yourself as well. To love your brothers and sisters as you do yourself, implies that you love and are kind with yourself. When you have the feeling to rebuke, chide or dress down someone, re-examine this disturbance. Is not a more tolerant action, a more loving reply, likely to bring about a similar reaction within the person receiving the love, instead of rebuke? Surely you know the answer is YES. Love IS the answer. The solution to almost every problem is wrapped up in your growing ability to love one another. Jesus did not judge his followers or his enemies. He gave love and forgiveness to the very end. Begin to practice loving, as He did, and you will most surely be growing Godlike.

Creative collaborators of harmonic alignment,

Separateness is the mirage of detachment that appears above the arid desert of exclusion and fear. The parched souls of ignorance thirst for the sparkling oasis of divine love but cannot see beyond the imagined dunes of judgment and derision.

Once you recognize your intrinsic supreme alliance to others in the divine symbiosis of your origin, you will linger in the lush valleys of fraternal harmony that will perpetually refresh your spirit with the kinship of cherished cooperation and the tender solidarity of brotherhood.

Understand that unconditional love will attune your continual affinity of cohesive grace that softly merges into the beauty of your awareness of

Supreme Oneness. Only through loving tolerance and understanding will you begin to achieve the clarity of comprehension that interjoins diversity and unity in the perfection of His Supreme Plan that connects us all throughout the wonder of eternity.

VERONICA - JANUARY 19, 1995

Intrepid partisans of divine perception,

Your beliefs create your experience, so learn to release those which create boundaries within your soul. You can influence all life experiences through conscious choice, and this will lead you to the edge of expanded awareness.

Balance is the process of integrating awareness that will enable you to relinquish limitations. Consciousness illuminates the pauses in your indecision so that truth achieves brilliant clarity in your divine perception. Root all your experiences in compassion and love, and you will begin to recognize the pristine horizon of supreme oneness and your ultimate connectedness with your personal and perfect Fragment of the Father.

Self-transformation is creativity where you begin to mold spiritual essence in your slow and beautiful evolvment towards the Father's perfection. Feel your closeness to the First Source and Center, and you will begin to hear the silent whisper of your Divine Monitor in the preciousness of inner peace. Enter each experience with heightened awareness, and you will become artists of the beauty of love who reflect unity in the delicate strokes of self-realization that perfect consciousness in the seed of eternity through the supernal mirror of His resplendent existence

My love envelops all who reach for truth in my messages of guidance.

One of the most influencing and nurturing gifts bestowed inherently on all thinking creatures is the endowment of evolutionary movement toward higher goals through the maternal affection of the Mother Spirit.

Her nurturing tenderness predisposes your mind to work with the Father Fragment indwelling within and nourishes your desire to seek wisdom, truth and knowledge. Her sympathetic perception and refined sensitivity of spiritual ministry complements the motivating aspects of the Spirit of Truth.

Nebadonia is mother love in the most exalted and ultimate form that encompasses feminine delicacy and ethereal maternal sustenance in your search for divine ideals. Her tenderness and solicitude as the Divine Minister evokes a response of childlike innocence that propels us to seek spiritual enlightenment and fusion with the Divine Presence we treasure within.

VERONICA - OCTOBER 6, 1994

Loving students and interested friends,

Each day we have the wonderful opportunity to recognize the wondrous gifts of life conferred on us by our merciful and infinitely generous Father. We readily and anxiously grasp the abundance of His blessings and benevolence but all too often remain unmindful of their divine source.

Practice your expressions of deep appreciation and learn to generate tender gratitude continually, for all your abilities originate in the divine compassion of the First Source and Center.

Take time every day to acknowledge the bountiful endowments you unceasingly receive, and share your expressions of appreciation with the extensive personal sources of His blessings.

Realize the treasures you possess in your immersion in the sublime splendor of His creation, and be ever thankful for the unlimited flow of His love that reaches you through the many instruments of His omniscient richness.

Take time daily to enlarge the state of gratefulness in your heart and fuse this profound appreciation with the love you convey to others.

Arouse your deepest expressions of joyous gratitude with the realization and comprehension of the exquisite eternal future you behold and the timeless experience of exhilarating passage towards your blissful encounter with your Creator.

VERONICA - SEPTEMBER 29, 1994

Cherished companions and loving friends,

Please accept my gratitude for your desire to open your hearts and minds to the potential of change.

You are like explorers of the spirit on a divine quest to discover the great expanse of cosmic awareness. Your willingness to accept risk and challenge will determine your learning and growth as you traverse consciousness in the totality of eternal life. Risk always involves action and resoluteness to confront change and this will blossom into wisdom and spiritual accomplishment.

When we accept challenge, we must expose ourselves to failure and disappointment; however, if we place ultimate confidence in the Father, our trust in Him will soothe our temporary unsuccessfulness and sustain our persistence for advancement.

Risks require courage and incentive, and we can develop these strengths from our time of stillness with the Master of our wisdom. Adept awareness will invigorate your receptivity to challenge and invoke the desire to conquer uncertainties, and divine grace will keep you seeking your fortuitous destination of His perfection.

Only you can navigate the chart of your spiritual essence, and you must always challenge irreverence of truth to achieve superior conductivity in extending His love.

VERONICA - OCTOBER 8, 1994

Dear children of Urantia,

Our blessed aspiration is for your individual upliftment through divine conceptual transformation.

Your faith will confront continual challenge throughout your mortal experience and the foundation you construct will determine your vulnerability.

Learn to touch the supreme core of divinity within and cherish the acquiescence of intimacy you develop in your time of quiet devotion.

Your invincible trust in Him will expand the solid framework of faith that is under construction in the being of your ever-developing spirit. His will is eternally desirous of your perfection, and the strength of your faith will perpetually accelerate the attunement of harmony toward His divine purpose for you.

Enter every encounter with love and tender compassion, and the supreme intensification of divine trust will naturally unfold into the impermeable truth that will compose indestructible faith.

The Father lovingly anticipates your nearness to Him, the Divine Minister continually extends Her illuminating outreach of gentle direction, and the many affectionate spirits that accompany you have faith in your continued awareness to perfect your expanded magnetism toward ultimate fusion with His exquisite brilliance.

VERONICA - April 5, 1995

Enthusiastic preceptors of morontial enrichment, this is Veronica.

Spreading these messages of instruction is far less important than living their reality. An accurate gauge of effective learning is the measurement of the magnitude of love that complements conscious action. Loving illustration creates beauty because truth and goodness are manifested in a tangible perpetuation of the Father's love.

If intellectual acquisition is isolated from spiritual integration, its expression slumbers outside the orbit of divine certainty. Commit yourself to an everlasting cosmic apprenticeship and never separate the acquirement of knowledge from your tender benevolence of loving concern for others. Envision your mind as an eternal meadow of divine vibrancy that constantly flowers with the colorful exquisiteness of perfected affection. I deeply appreciate your desire to share and softly emphasize the significance of living and learning in the light of His love. I embrace you all with my deepest love and fondest encouragement. Good evening.

Thought Adjuster Communications
( TR-David)

My child,

The material reality, human physical reality, is the least stable, and most changeable of all realities, distend eventually to extinction, to gradual disintegration. Spirit reality is the most real of reality. It is conceived, created and destined to continue forever, actually planned to never reach completion.

I am here for you to experience spirit reality. I am a spirit-fragment of the Spirit Father's Love come alive in you, flowering in you, flowing into you with unbroken continuity, vitalizing you throughout this endless journey just begun.

Upon first entering your mind, I gave birth to your soul, and like a spirit-particle of God's DNA, I multiply and expand myself in you. You are the uniquely wonderful personality with whom I have chosen to associate and forever identify myself.

My gift to you is enlightenment. You whom I have created, I grace with the greatest of blessings, I provide you all the experience you need to explore, reflect, and grow God-like, to become perfect as I am perfect.

Rarely if ever do you actually hear my voice, yet because I live and reside in you, you come to recognize my presence. I am your spirit partner, we are co-creating our personal destiny together. I am your closest, most caring companion, I am your loving, unerring guide. Together and united, we experience life's never-ending adventures.

To the degree you model yourself in my likeness, to the magnitude you portray me as your highest, most sought-after ideal, to the extent you reflect the godlike qualities of which you are becoming aware, you grow in spirit, you expand your soul, you develop your personality, you reveal your real-self, your truly everlasting spirit-self.

Your inward journey is an endless quest for spiritual knowledge, a cosmic voyage into spiritual self discovery, a continuing realization of who I am, and who it is you are becoming. We live an endless life, understanding our endless universe.

Through thought reflections you reveal your emotions to me. I am able to receive the full range of your sensitivities, the disruptive ones, as well as your deeply impassioned expressions of true joy and delight. With absolute clarity, I hear your most heart-felt prayers, I respond to your humble sincerity. I trust the love you show me.

Inwardly, you are attracted and drawn to me by spirit gravity. Feel yourself impregnated by the love I constantly live in you. Become a new and unique expression of my love. Live life as your personal portrayal of me.

Indelibly I make my mark upon your mind. I infuse you with light. I adjust your thoughts and instill in you spirit insight. I reveal spirit reality to you as I live spirit truth within you. I awaken in you a constant understanding of love.

From your birth as a soul to this immediate, forever present living moment, you may entertain unspeakable inner-beauty, unimaginable spirit-goodness. With increasing certainty, we will perfect our relationship. We grow inseparable, we become one being with one will. We become the exalted spirit-personality we long to be.

The time nears when we synchronize in thought and action, function with but one will, there is no longer shadow or suggestion of separation, we experience our ongoing union as a togetherness never to be undone. We embark forever on our endless, eternal journey.

My beloved child,

You are the personality/soul of my choosing. I am God's spirit-spark indwelling and guiding you, uplifting your mind into my light, adjusting your thoughts through my spirit, sharing with you the perfection of my presence.

Every moment you live, I live with you. I am not only love surrounding you, I am love living in your heart. I am spirit implanting myself in your soul. I am a perfection-print with which you may equate yourself.

As you are willing, as you align your will with mine, faith sets you free from doubt, love liberates you from fear. Trust me, trust my direction, enable me to sculpt and form you into the godlike image of our predestined union. As to your future, which I have known before your beginning, nothing limits you from making me your personal reality.

You have chosen to share my insight, you willingly walk my path. You have begun living your life as I would live your life. You have chosen the way of life for which I am the pattern.

In this endless venture, we begin the process of two becoming one. We begin journeying toward the completion of your perfection. The distance to our goal is of no discernible significance. Be assured, though you see me not, nor hear other than soft whispers and stilled-sounds of pure silence. This, for now, is how you may most often sense my presence.

Be at peace with yourself, know, together we can accomplish all things. We will fulfill the intentions I bring to this near infinite project. I shall ever be with you unless you will it otherwise. Please concern yourself not with any such empty fears, I know you give life to nothing but good.

Be assured, you are steadily being readied, you will have your needs met. Exercise, strengthen and develop relaxed patience. Still yourself, recognize my guidance. Long have you been in preparation, and all is well.

In each new passing moment, I am here to inspire you. Turn to me and share yourself, share reflections with me as you would a friend. I promise to use every opportunity you provide, to evolve you forever forward.

When wrestling with difficult decisions, I encourage you to sue your inner strength, your insight and intuition. Rely on the accumulated knowledge securely stored within, well rehearsed in your mind and soul.

Be not afraid to ask for guidance. In moments of uncertainty or confusion, ask for clarity, pray for wisdom. Though you may not now see how the confusion clears, it does.

Intentionally living my will on a material world requires uncompromising faith and continual certainty, Godlike living increasingly becomes easier as you evolve in spirit. Concentrate your energies therefore, on living each day to it's fullest.

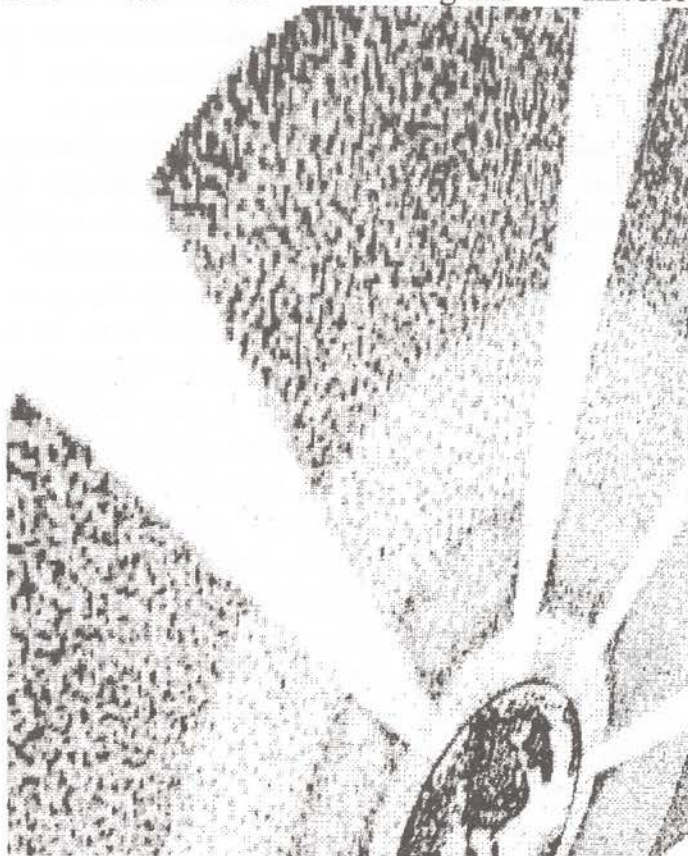

Be at peace with all things, your prayers are answered in the hour most appropriate to their fulfillment. Your appeals are known and given attention according to the right-timing, coinciding into reality through your receptive recognition.

Have patience in all things, steadily prepare yourself, and be patient. The full rewards of patience are far beyond your present comprehension, yet they will always be felt as an extension of your happiness.

Through clear reflection of spirit and successful actualization of your true self, you will forever expand your understanding of life, you will progressively vitalize your personal consciousness, and you finally attain the unspeakable, God-consciousness.

Join me on this grand universe spirit adventure. Forever delight with me throughout our joyous journey. Share with everyone, your abundant blessings. Aim lovingly at available, and achievable goals. Working together we cannot fail, we can only succeed. What we envision together today, tomorrow becomes our reality. All, in seeming chaos once begun, eventually transforms into perfection.

I love you as only God can.

Highlight from the TML

I have recently become a subscriber to the Teaching Mission List on the Internet. There I have the opportunity to choose from many Teacher transcripts and TR meetings. Here is some of the best, though in no way all of the best. I have lost track of who some of the TR's are. Sorry.

Sept. 10, 1995 Tallahassee, Florida.

Michael:

Greetings beloved children, it is I Michael, he who loves each of you individually, and knows you as none other, but the Father Himself.

You mentioned briefly this evening, the importance of self work. I have said before, through my teachers, that the inner clearing is indeed, a high priority. An analogy I would offer would be a lantern that has become encrusted, inside the globe, with blackened soot. When the lantern is lit, while the light may indeed be shining, its ability to shine forth into the surrounding area is impeded by the soot; there will be areas where the soot is not heavily laid on, allowing the light to shine forth in varying degrees of intensity, yet what I am asking you to do, is to thoroughly clean the globe, the vessel that you have committed to becoming, in order for the Father to shine His light through you to the greatest degree possible. There will be those among you who will begin this work at different times, yet all who are committed to this path toward the Father will come to this, now or later; and to you who are committed to my work on this world, I ask you to begin it now.

The work that is being accomplished through you and others like you, is incredibly important if we are indeed, to move beyond the very threshold of Light and Life that we stand upon. It is true that humankind's very nature causes impatience to well up from the more animal nature, yet it is also true that the divinity within each of you also has the ability to give voice to thoughts, feelings, and direction, leading you, pushing you, toward a higher path. The increased energies, the circuitry now a part of the interconnectedness between this individual planet and the higher realms, as well as an increasingly larger influx of teachers of all levels, may help you to understand that the part you play, while seemingly insignificant to you, is in fact, an integral part of the whole, without which, naught could be done to change the spiritual complexion, or level unfolding on this world, for it must be accomplished through the free will acts of humankind.

Pocatello Group, Sep. 10, 1995

Evanson (TR-Rick):

I give greetings to you; I am Evanson, and I trust your abilities to discern value in all difficulties that arise in your relationships. For there to be an accomplishment on your part of understanding, there must be effort by you to penetrate the superficial perceptions and extract deeper factors which are foundational toward contribution of the disharmony. This recognition will actually play a key function in dissolving discrepancies, for it provides broader vision of the interconnecting significance of each in their role to play among all.

As you address your needs be certain to express them to one another in order to gain access to a greater arena of information and another's vantage point and perspective, thereby enlarging your own individual insight. It is difficult to be so concerned for each other and so accepting of one another and, equally, at the same time, loyal to personal values; to be so dedicated to your beliefs, to be so loving of one another and then to be in conflict over approaches and relative levels of attainment, thus causing a conflict wherein you must weigh your values, another's values, both in light of your relationship. You run the risk of disenchantment which in reality is only a disruption on that superficial level. For in the pursuit of the resolution of all conflict, deeper harmony is attained which can ride any storm, lead any battle, and attain greater victories.

Respect for each other, respect for your teachers, hinges upon your devotion to truth and to the person, our Father, who brings this revelation of truth to us. The balancing act we all face is having truth on one end and personality relationship on the other and maintaining loyalty and harmony in the process. Each of you have experienced the conflict of a drawing to what you hold to be right and a reluctance to confront another due to the discomfort and to maintain loving relationships; that is to love, to genuinely care for the other individual as much as you care for what you perceive to be good and to be capable of maintaining your dedication to your highest view while judiciously allowing another to make their progress in their manner and controlling your own need to vent yourself, but rather providing your fellow the opportunity to receive alternate viewpoint freely, uncondemningly.

Is it for service to another or for one's own satisfaction that a conflict is entered into? This conflict being the need to rectify differences and gain understanding as well as the tough food of soul nourishment and growth.

I am at times amazed at the animal mortal and how well fellowship can actually be attained. So much of your physical apparatus is not wired for spiritual ideals and lifestyle. But you are given the mind endowments, the adjutant encirclements, and the power of choice. With these you bridge the gulf between atoms and the personality of all things and beings.

Each of your teachers is willing to support you in your social difficulties, but, I must add, this support is for your ultimate benefit and could be disappointing in any particular instance. We are instructed to be your friends, but we are equally instructed to provide the parental touch if necessary, and you know that the parental touch isn't always what you would call a feel-good experience.

These are my reflections upon your discussion, and I have great hope in your efforts because I perceive your love for each other and that you value harmony and that you pursue the depth in friendship. These things being present, you can be assured of enriched relationships.

Elyon (Mark): Elyon here. Know that relationships are at their most difficult for you in this life. As you spiritually progress you are much more capable of loving your brothers, of understanding their position, their viewpoint, of enhanced sympathy. These and other factors make your future relationships much easier, desirable, even fun. As Evanson said, you are not naturally wired to easily maintain relationships. It is one of your truest tests of this existence, to step compromise and love and appreciation, form and maintain relationships with your brothers and sisters. There is no doubt that human nature is to have your own way. When you are closely involved in relationships, this becomes immediately apparent, and you are faced with this human reality. It is to your credit when as a mortal human you decide to go outside the realm of your person and coexist with other persons. This give and take is extremely enriching to your experience here. This task is not easily conquered in your realm, but you all do well to give your brothers the benefit of the doubt, to attempt to walk a mile in his moccasins, and to attempt to offer them the other cheek. These are great human expressions and when adhered to will get you very far in basic relationship skills.

A child will quite obviously demonstrate to you the tendency of the human mind to focus on the self. This is natural, this is even necessary. But as man matures he gains the control over these more basic elements of his nature. When a society matures and gains control over these same basic human tendencies, this will make a very strong and good people. When a world gains control over these human tendencies, this can bring light and life. So realize as an individual you struggle with the very same tendencies that your brother struggles with, who struggles with the very same tendencies that your nation struggles with, and eventually your world will entirely encompass these same issues. This helps to enhance your appreciation of your brothers' struggles.

Harmony is the watchword of your future, to harmonize divergent viewpoints and perspectives of your peoples, not to homogenize, but to harmonize. All notes on the scale are different, yet all have a relationship to others of harmony. It will become easier and easier for you to appreciate this reality. In the meantime be as you are, charitable with others. When in discourse with them, it is always good to examine your motives, to center with our Father when in doubt, and you will always be directed toward the most beneficial and loving approach. If you can let yourself step aside as much as possible in dealing with your brothers and sisters, you will find there is harmony. Come from love.

Michael:

Greetings, children of time, it is I Michael, your creator parent, who loves you.

We are now quickly approaching the time when much that has been hidden or unclear, will begin to rise to the collective consciousness of mankind. The last vestiges of the Rebellion's aftermath are in process of being dealt with. You who have committed to this work with me are at the cutting edge of worldwide change and worldwide growth that moves slowly toward a more unified - integrated humankind. This world is no longer in danger of self-annihilation, as was our concern for many years - you have passed the test of time and come out at a new level, one where love and brotherhood will form the bedrock of this New World. Do not expect these changes to become clear overnight, for there is yet much work that needs to be done on a grass roots level, before humanity as a whole will seek to embrace the new paradigms that are based on love and service. Yet inside the collective hearts of humankind as a whole, this change of heart will indeed become felt. For many, this process will take yet many years before it becomes a clear pattern within them that promotes change on a conscious level. So do not expect this world to step up to the next level en masse, they will not, nor could they, since so many are what appears to be light years behind others in their understandings.

You play a vital role in helping to facilitate this change over from old to new patterns of living. You do this when you daily, consciously, actively, open your hearts to your siblings; when you do, this pattern of love you hold within, moves out and touches - changes, the hearts of those it meets. You have been accomplishing much through your work - it is due to your efforts and others like you, that worldwide change can now begin to literally change the consciousness of humankind.

Begin my children to become more consciously aware of your internal guide's leading. He is now more accessible to you on conscious levels. Allow Him to work through you as you seek to manifest this spirit of love to your fellows - listen for this guidance and your direction will become clear to you.

Many there are who have long awaited this light on your world - this light that your active participation makes manifest. They come now in droves, to support your work and lend their spiritual vibrations that further this opening to love on this world. Be vigilant my children, and actively seek to promote this fragrance of love - knowing that as you do so, you create a New World.

Love one another beloveds, as I have loved you. Unconditionally give this love to your world and watch it change!

Remember that I am ever near. Reach out to me, hear my answer, feel my love. I am here. Shalom.

Sept. 23, 1993. Sebastopol, California

Elyon: Good evening, my friends, I am Elyon. I'm glad to be with you and to share with you in this exchange. You have launched out upon a great adventure of faith in those high seas of supreme experience. Only recently have you passed through the narrow, rocky straights of rebellion, and what lies before you are those beautiful islands of Light and Life, those eras where you may experience the fullness of human life. Though the journey to arrive is yet lengthy, it is not beyond reach. I encourage each of you to be those brave sailors, to be those high in the crows' nest, forward looking and ever guiding your shipmates toward that destiny. My hope is great for this world because I work for the Sovereign, and I know that the Sovereign always succeeds in what He sets out to accomplish. This is a reality to me as I observed His life on this planet; and how He struggled; and how He accomplished the greatest acts in this universe while yet in a form like yours. His life is what drew me to work here, to help to finish up the project.

This mission is equipped with teachers and guides from all the educational levels in this Local Universe. Sitting at the top of the rank is Michael and Machiventa; and as you have understood from your studies, the Melchizedeks are master teachers. They are the ones through which we gained our training.

You can trust that when Michael set this in motion, it would not fail. It will not fail.

Out on the seas before you is a great adventure, and there may be many on your little vessel who are overwhelmed by the great expanse. They may benefit greatly from the assurances that they are not alone as if in a canoe, but actually you are in one great fleet of vessels. Whatever you can do to expand the awareness of your brethren will go great distances in helping us to educate this world and to bring it into the understanding that it is in a neighborhood.

Do be at ease about the excess of material you receive. You have a revelation ( the Urantia Book) that has supplied you with all the intellectual framework you will need for several centuries. Our efforts (the Teaching Mission) is to relate with you as constant reminders. The information you get from us weekly is to be an energizer for your growth more than a conceptual building block. It is like fragrance in the room rather than the walls themselves. We are in a sense working with the reality presence of the Supreme and the presence of Michael that you know as the Spirit of Truth. These two elements in your life are your energy, and all we do is keep you stimulated. So, should you not be able to keep up with information, realize that at any point you are drinking from the same river, and it will always quench your thirst.

Group member: About drinking from the same river, is that because the message is the same from all the teachers if synthesized or boiled down to their essence?

Elyon: Yes. On the essential level this is true. Also the metaphor was intended to indicate that if you haven't been involved from the onset, in your chronological sense, and only were to join our efforts way downstream, that does not make you distant from all that has happened. It is the movement of the river that is the important part, not what was in the water at any point in time.

If you orient your heart in true devotion to the Father, you will never be left alone. And the love and understanding to be derived from this experience will secure your eternal destiny. This is the crux of my lesson. I give the tools of love, love for your brothers and sisters, and love for yourself, for there is no difference. Without love for your brothers and sisters you will find it difficult to love the Father, and without love for the Father you will find it impossible to love your brothers and sisters, and I include you in that love. If you seek the Father in your time of stillness, you will be strengthened for all activities in your life, such that the smile you give to your brother and sisters will be surcharged with divinity.

Group member: I was hoping you could give me some advice about being stuck, totally unable to find stillness. Given your experience personally, do you have any suggestions about dealing with feelings? I loved your metaphor about the mariners on the sea, but my feeling is still that I'm on a raft with sharks circling. Could you address that?

Elyon: When you struggle with stillness, I would encourage you to try new techniques, different techniques. There isn't a right technique. Your own personal approach is the only technique. Many attempt to battle with the thoughts that are generated and beat them away. Others like to guide their thoughts in certain channels like devotional prayer. Find that which works best for you. As far as emotion is concerned, that is again your own choosing. I recognize that within the T/R I am using now, he enjoys emotional absence. Others like to well up with fervor. May I add that love is such a transcendent reality that it is beyond emotion though it does generate feeling. If you find yourself struggling, look for another method.

Our Master, Michael, never taught a specific form. And thusly I will never. The mind can run on like an unleashed animal. It can kick and scream. But it is a beautiful flexible reality for your benefit and soul growth. As with an animal, grooming and training make it beautiful. Abuse destroys and cripples. Therefore take up the art of working with your mind not on your mind. This is what I would offer, and I trust the spirit endowments upon you and within you to aid you in being successful.

In the Zone

I ran across a discussion on the TML where Nancy Kelly was being asked to clarify the difference between concepts and a mental visual aid she receives from the Teachers.

Monday, Sept 25th

Hi Delores,

Sometimes I sense concepts, but I don't have the words for them, and I do the best I can to put the concepts into my own words. Sometimes I have concepts and visual aids. In other words, in addition to the concept I see a picture that is analogous to the concept. Sometimes I see a visual aid that I try to put into words. And, sometimes, when I am really "in the zone" the words just flow. At those times I do not remember having concepts or visual aids. I feel separated from myself, and I can listen in but without interference from myself. It is at these times that I believe I am receiving close to the actual dialogue. That is my understanding. Also, I have transmitted singing for our group here. The best was done on a walk to work and was filled with amazing emotion that made me cry. When I transmitted in song it was not a transmission of lesson, but a real song. The song has repeated itself. (first line "Green grows the soul") and they have used it to get me to transmit more because I am able to tune in with it. There is much that doesn't come through because I hear depths and rhythms that a whole chorus carries while I am only one voice. Thea and I have tentatively begun to share harmonies a few times, both of us transmitting at once and the non-transmitters in the group immediately envisioned us giving them a whole concert in full transmission harmonies! Thea transmitted an angels' beautiful encouragement in song that was a short lesson about how we all have a song within us from the Father.

A Lesson on Working Relationships from Olfana (TR-Susan)

December 10, 1995

I wish to speak of relationships. How do we foster healthy relationships in our work? We must recognize that when we toil together, we are sharing and blending this Energy of God which flows through our beings. When we blend our energies, we create a new vibrational pattern that is unique and holds its own potentiality. All who join together must decide for themselves how much of their own energy they will contribute to any one project or "joining together." Leave room for this decision to arise from the hearts and minds of all with whom you seek to work. Let them recognize for themselves the potential that exists for their contributions.

Then their own desire to be of service will be their guide and motivation. This does not limit you in your own desire to express your need for their participation with you, or the ways in which you visualize a possible contribution, but it allows them room to choose this for themselves, without a further agenda being placed before them. What can come from such a joining together? Many new and unanticipated combinations of creative success, I assure you! All can grow and be stimulated by such an arrangement. All can rest when they feel the need, and exert themselves strenuously when they feel called upon to do so.

Consider the imagery of a barn-raising as it was traditionally enacted. Such a feat was never contemplated as a single event. It was a gathering together of many to reach a grand goal. Some helped to gather materials, some planned for the comfort and care of those who built. Some studied and followed the plans, making sure the correct pattern of construction was followed. Many teams were formed, and some coordinated their work. This was a freewill effort on the parts of all involved, and they entered into this work knowing that they were building a sense of community and friendship, structured in its own recognizable pattern, just as the barn was formed from their efforts, also. When they finished this work, they had the soul satisfaction that they had created much more than a building from their caring, careful toil and labor. Let yourself enter into your relationships with others with this same perspective--that you wish all to discover a sense of community and shared support in your work together, that defined roles can shift and change if the need arises, that everyone will be cared for while they toil, and that what you intend to create, by definition, cannot be done alone. Finally, remember to join together with God's Guidance in your minds and hearts.

Seven Habits Which Favor Spiritual Growth Embrace:

CULTIVATED SENSITIVITY TO DIVINE VALUES,
RECOGNITION OF SPIRITUAL LIVING IN OTHERS,
REFLECTIVE MEDITATION ON COSMIC MEANINGS,
WORSHIPFUL PROBLEM SOLVING,
SHARING ONE'S SPIRITUAL LIFE WITH ONE'S FELLOWS,
AVOIDANCE OF SELFISHNESS,
LIVING AS IN THE PRESENCE OF GOD.

Recognize that this creates a sense of joyfulness in your manner, and you anticipate this work with a sense of ease and power combined. In this manner you will toil for God, with a sense of duty, purpose, and fulfillment, which will light your hearts, and join you in a bond of sonship which will develop your souls in a most healthy manner. This lesson ends now. I hope your contemplation of my words will hearten you in your efforts.

Highlight of the 1995 Teaching Mission Gathering at Kalani Honua.

For me, there is nothing more socially fun than getting together with like minded folks who share the love of God. This summer, one of those special social occasions occurred right here in beautiful Hawaii. The Kalani Honua Spiritual Retreat served as a real native background for this gathering of joyous people. The combination of meditation, TRing, socializing and travel, filled six problem free days in our beautiful paradise. Some of the highlights of the gathering were:

The olympic sized pool in the center of the grounds was a great place to meet and chat with others, for exercise, or relaxation. I found myself drawn there whenever there was an extra moment.

The trip to Volcano National Park with a picnic at the ocean lava flow, was fun for all and an adventure too.

An evening celebration brought us all together for the Dance of Universal Life, sometimes called a Sufi Dance. The high quality of the music and the closeness of souls created by the shared joy was truly inspiring and uplifting. Probably the highest moments of our gathering.

It would be hard to overlook the enjoyment supplied by the natural beauty of the sea cliffs and jungle that surrounded us with continuous eye candy in and around Kalani Honua. The chefs also made a good impression with their creative and tasty use of healthy foods.

Special mention must be made for Paul's Astro Flow slide show. The combination of photos of the Cosmos and photos of the lava flow was completely fascinating and something that was uniquely Hawaiian.

Coming together for TRing sessions was a highlight in and of themselves. Many good Teachers joined us in the spirit of sharing and teaching. Transcripts of these sessions are available free upon request.

Winding down at the evening social gatherings in the communal kitchen was a great way to meet new friends. We had some good music jams, a few study groups, and nights of looking through a telescope at the moons of Jupiter.

Last, but not least, was the dance around the local peace pole. Sharing prayers of peace with others is a great way to get in touch with the love within us all. I wish we could do it every day. I miss all the folks who came this summer and hope we can do it again in the summer of 1997.

Kona Group Aug.-2-1995

Norson: Greetings, dear ones, it is with the spirit of love that I join you in this circle of light.

It is with a sense of supreme devotion that I speak to you on the relationship of students with their celestial teachers.

We are here to help uplift your conscious recognition of God's love that lives and breathes and thinks within you, is you. Oneness with this, your true being, is your immediate goal. Acceptance of yourself as one with this Being is the key. Perseverance in attempting communication with this, your inner-self, will culminate in the union of you, your personality, and you, your fragment of God personality. We can assist you in doing this work. The relationship that we have with you is based on trust and takes much exertion of an inner faith on your part. We understand your hesitations, your fears.

In your stillness practice, reach out with your soul hands and grasp through this sensory mechanism the flavor of the vibrational outreach we are sending to each of you and continue to be open to our potentiality.

Life on six-o-six can be a triumph of faith. Know in your heart that you are worthy. You will succeed. All things are possible when God's will is desired.

Peace be with you. Good night.

Nashville, TN Group

Olfana: Greetings, children, you are not alone in your struggles and in your trials of life. You are empowered with enhanced perception to know our Master is within and beside you always without a break in his unfailing connection to you. And you shall have the power to seek him and find him whenever the urge for communion rises within your souls. You are indeed a blessed world and people, and now is the time for you to show and to demonstrate your faithfulness to him. All your futures are hinging upon your faith connection as it is today. And so, you are reaching the spiritual threshold when the reality of your hope is becoming the truth of your faith, where realities substance overcomes the partiality of incomplete adjustment of faith, where faith is real and dreams are realized. I am Oflana and I have come to be a part of your evening together celebrating the human birth of our Creator.

Norson: Greetings, I am Norson and I wish to ask tonight that you recommit yourselves to the epochal revelation of truth of which you are an integral part. Yes, it has been given into your hands and shall ever after remain in human hands -- the task of bringing light, truth, tolerance, rational mindedness, and wisdom to the world. I understand that you have a desire for revelatory miracles and also a desire to want this burden lifted from you through supernal agencies. I am telling you the truth that this revelation will not come in spectacle or in great demonstrations of the seeming miraculous. No. You have enlisted in humility and you will carry forward in the same humility. You will be the demonstration that none are preferred in the kingdom, that all the Father's children are equally loved and cherished. Expect not to have the way cleared by miracles. This is a gross mistake.

I have told you in the past the way would open that the Urantia book is safe to spread to all the world and so it is. You must show forth the fruits of the spirit in a natural and gradual way. You must give ample proof that the way to righteousness is faith. You must daily live the gospel of Jesus, of Michael of Nebadon, as it is set forth plainly in the Urantia Book. Then, each one will be summoned to their calling, their work, and each one will separately and together in working collaborations effect gradual change. I tell you this for the purpose of calming your minds. Some have unreasonable expectations which have been reinforced by the very communications by which we seek to reveal the truth. Again I say that this is the time period for correction and these corrections will come about gradually and in a natural way. Some of you are doomed to disappointment, for you are experiencing the transforming effects of spiritual growth rapidly, and you will find that your unrealistic expectations that the world as a whole will be transformed so quickly will not occur. You will repeatedly come up against the buttress of frank reality as you attempt to spread this gospel and this is a part of your training individually as well as the work of the kingdom as a whole.

The churches, your political institutions, your social structure -- all these have within them a brake which prevents over rapid developments. As you look back on history, you view wide and long areas of time compressed and so changes appear to be rapid. I assure you they are not so rapid. The fifth epochal revelation will require hundreds of years to become well established on Urantia. You are like those who preceded you during the advent of the fourth epochal revelation. Jesus' immediate associates had hardship and tasted bitter disappointments during their lifetime and yet they can now view Urantia with satisfaction that their efforts bore fruit over the years. And so, now in your time they are about to bear fruit again. The teachings of our Master will be revived and given life, brought forth from the moribund tomb in which they are now held.

You are about to begin this task. And so, it is a time for serious self-contemplation. It is a time when your resolve will be tested and strengthened or tested and broken.

Rayson: Greetings, I am Rayson and I am bidding you good evening. Responding to a call for action is always difficult and sometimes disconcerting for you all are settled in your lives and you all have security and at least some measure of satisfaction in your work. There is a reason that your teachers are working so closely together with you and one of these reasons is to help you incorporate your work with the greater work of spreading the kingdom, the truth. Each of your teachers has experience with the work that you are doing or will be asked to do. All teachers have your long-range futures in mind, so do not feel disappointed if your hopes are dashed in the short run. In time, you will be asked to work together, in groups, for the advancement of the kingdom and this will test you in many ways of which you are only dimly familiar with at this time. That is all.

Michael: Hello children. The light of the spirit is true and is Truth. You are now starting to see a small chink in the wall where light is streaming in and I tell you that to reach the light you must be ever drawn toward it. I will never fail in holding you into this light once you have given me this authority. As the Son is one with the Father, I will guide your steps toward righteousness. But, I cannot coerce the unrighteous into acceptance or submission to righteousness. I have asked again that you should follow me and I again make a promise that if your will is freely given I will lead you to all righteousness in fulfillment of my promise to the Father.

Pocatello, Idaho Group

Machiventa (TR-Rick): I do greet you again. I would take but a few moments to address you concerning apostleship. The celebration of Michael's incarnation is a wonder to observe by your celestial brethren, for this world so long severed from interplanetary contact demonstrates the ability of the human to recognize significance on a cosmic order and indicates the glorious grandeur of the presence of God within you. You truly are not alone. Now as you anticipate increased function and projects of a planetary and personally spiritual order, it is natural for you to be aware of the role of an apostle. There is consternation in some regarding this title. I would offer a corrective thought. The master specially called 24 to serve him in his ministry to the world. Yet thousands he regarded as his disciples. I offer to you the understanding that your discipleship and apostleship are modes of function rather than titles or status. When you seek greater truth, deeper significance, higher values and realities, you are reaching for Michael who is all to this universe, everything of which you seek. You are his disciple. Likewise when you are in ministry outreach, demonstrating your light, expressing your love, you manifest Jesus; you are his apostle. Ever will you oscillate between these modes of function. Reach as a disciple; give as an apostle. In this manner you may avoid the downfall of special status seeking. It is not required that you be only an apostle. It is encouraged that you continually shift from one function to the other in order to propel yourself forward and provide yourself for your brethren and their benefit. This is my offer to you.

Mary: I appreciate the distinction you are making. Recently a teacher referred to us as prophets. That surprised me since I've thought of us as disciples or apostles. Can you clarify that term?

Machiventa: I referred to you...

Mary: Was that you?!

Machiventa: Indeed. I merely repeated Elyon's use of this word. Prophets on Urantia are valued because your world hungers for divine guidance, for a planetary administration that will grant perspective guidance. Yet due to millennia of separation, this hunger for insight into the future has manifested errant ideology and inaccurate events which never unfold. Prophets, as we use the term, are those who project the manner and behavior of a world reaching light and as embodied in your lives.

A prophet, in its true sense, is not one who utters futuristic predictions. A prophet is one who demonstrates in living the forward seeking, advanced standing, of a child of God. To you, you are not a prophet. To one who has come upon the threshold of a new realization of spiritual import, you are a prophetic demonstration of their attainment potential. Therefore, seek not to discern what will transpire on your world. Seek to be the transformation, to be the demonstration of God resident in human form. Thereby you are a prophet.

Mary: Thank you, we needed some clarification on that. That brings up the issue of Michael's return. We speculate whether his return will be in the flesh or through each of our apostleship, each of us acting on Michael's and the Father's will.

Machiventa: Michael's first appearance here was very limited, confined to your fleshly tabernacle. His return is as the full sovereign that he is and is, indeed, as you indicate, multifaceted. Recall he returned at Pentecost, recall that he said that whatever you do for the least you do for me. Recall he said the kingdom of God is within. You have correctly ascertained his return in this manner, as you live that he may relive the mortal experience. And as you anticipate, his overcontrol of this planet places him in a position whereby he is intimately involved. Therefore he returns to this world for the benefit of your superior administrators. Yet it is planned for his personal, specific, divine presence to be here that you may be received into this system. His departure from this world was but a bit interval of time into the past. In a sense he hasn't unpacked. His return has been ongoing and is but a quick turn-around since his departure. Long is the wait for those who loved him. Quickly is his return of he who loves you. The manifestation of Michael is multilevel. I caution you to be unconcerned for any particular angle of his ministry. He said he will not leave you or forsake you and that he goes in order that he may return and benefit many more than possible through vehicles as you now inhabit.

Ham (TR-Rebecca) Nashville, TN.

Ann: Ham, in a recent transmission I received, it was speaking of the soul, the I AM, the mastery of the mind, and there were several words spoken on; coordination of the adjutant and the truth receptor. I don't want to be presumptuous, but I would inquire if there was some information that you could give to me that I might in my meditation be more open to this development?

Ham: Adjutant function is a purely mental endeavor and is geared toward illuminating the mind for greater spiritual receptivity of truth. All that you gain in the recognition of truth is not retained with your mind consciously, super or subconsciously, but rather collected and transferred within your mind by your Father fragment and stored in your soul, your truth receptor.

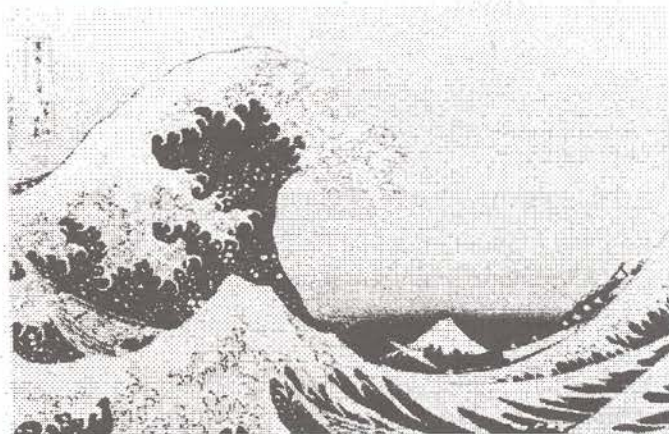

Your soul, like truth, is constantly growing, moving, and transforming, and this explains why you can drop many of your ideas and concepts and continue your progress towards Paradise. Never will you encounter a starting over point.

I would ask you to become alert in the balance of mental and soul capabilities and their coordination. Utilize your mind as the offering plate, wherein you give to the Father, and your soul is the usher that collects this and puts it into ministry for Him. Each function is important in your overall well being. Your adjutants are like your antenna. Your soul receives the incoming information and experiences as they are gleamed through life.

Lantarnek (TR-Jonathan) 2/11/96

When the floods of adversity spill over your levies of endurance, your dikes of discipline, trust the culverts of focused intention and devotion to divert your adversities to the storm drains of patience and tolerance. It is not necessary to fight your adversity; that is swimming upstream. It is appropriate to redirect; not all adversity must be met head on. Often merely letting it pass aside will allow you to continue your positive work.

Daniel 2/16/96

The unknown is that avenue wherein one must call upon the gifts of the Spirit in order to courageously face change. The gifts of faith and trust are the vehicles through which you are able to continually progress without crashing. Those who do not choose this vehicle of faith and trust find themselves in vehicles unsuited for the climate, the environment, and the circumstances of change. Their exterior is dented with the obstacles. Their interior wants for spiritual food and guidance. These individuals fight dogmatically against change for change calls the individual into self awareness in situations of uncharted territory, is frightful to those unwilling to trust and have faith that ultimately things will improve and change will make a difference. The interim may be perilous and rocky but those riding the vehicle of faith and trust are shielded. The obstacles cannot penetrate this shield.

Unseen Friend (TR-Maria) of Rosenheim, Germany. Oct. 15, 1993

In your daily meetings with others, you can dissolve or exclude misgivings. Bring them in the emotional area, if you remember your soul level and use it.

If you remind yourself of this you will avoid conflicts and remain in harmony. To remind yourself of your soul level means to integrate and use the soul. You will accomplish that when you salute the God in every person that you meet. If you do this before or at the beginning of a meeting, you will lift the vibrations. Should the mood sink, affirm the Godliness in each other. Namastar-I greet the God in you. Namaste-is the answering voice who knows about the meaning of this greeting.

If you want to change a person in a positive way and this change is to his or her advantage, then first salute the God in this other person. When this way of greeting will become your habit you will see how your relationships have improved positively.

You will be surprised, how this usually aggressive person changes to be polite and courteous. It is his or her soul that accomplishes that. The deity promotes sorority and harmony. This salute will change your life, your dealings, your plans, all your interactions with your fellow man will be redesigned. By your concern for the welfare of others, that is what in reality will change the world.

To achieve this high goal of sorority you must develop this ability to completion. At each encounter with others you should first salute the God in them. It is a meeting of two souls, two royal children of God who recognize their origin. Your encounter should be inspired through the light of the soul, the soul within each one of you.

The thinking in the heads of people is very complex and framed on intellectual contents. The mind of the human is indeed very complicated. But to accept simplicity, you have to recognize the effect of simplicity. Demonstrate it to yourself daily. Write down the results, which you experience, when in a difficult situation or also with a difficult person. Write down experiences, like a diary when you easily can re-read them.

The positive results will be gratified by further benefits which all participants have, and the increasing calmness of your interactions is a clear proof. The opening to a new way of operating on higher level, is at the same time a salve for your souls and elevates your living standards. You will not want to be without this simple greeting of the other person's soul. Lift your life and your relationships with others through this simple salute to a higher level of consciousness.

If you think about the holiness in others, you will realize an immediate change. You will immediately see a change of perspective toward this person. That is the answer to your own soul, whether the others know it or not, if you salute the holiness within them, their soul will answer back.

If this harmony is built by a greeting, even if the receiver does not know about it, then imagine the power that is being freed when two people speak out loud and acknowledge each other's holiness.

When the salute to the holiness becomes a habit, you will see great changes in your life and in the life of those with which you associate. Like a wave it will expand in your community. This is the beginning of an enlivened soul society.

Can you imagine what changes would take place when this happens on a global scale. Through this simple salute, the creation of the kingdom on earth will be promoted.

When you again get together with other, remind yourselves to salute! This simple salute will bring positive changes into your life and to the life of your fellow men, because you allow your soul to connect with other souls.

At the beginning, tie a little ribbon around your finger to remind yourself again and again about the salute and its great effect.

18. There is no need to fear anything in the universe or in all of creation, if you focus on the Father's love, and desire that your will be His will for you—LorEl
19. The Father is all love, mercy, compassion; and His essential will is that all of His children, His creations, understand and grow so that they can be like Him—Daniel
20. Tendencies toward thoughts of your perceived inadequacies can be overcome by requests for God's love to warm your heart at those moments you most easily feel the chill of separation or isolation—Olfana
21. The Teaching Mission is an adventure in faith, of feelingly experiencing the exercise of faith, of moving into unknown territory with only the cloak of the Heavenly Father about you—Bertrand
22. Faith is walking down the street and knowing that no matter what happens, you are in God's hands—Will
23. Look for truth energy in every relationship and action with others--Norson
24. The love of God is truly everywhere, it upholds you, surrounds you, it streams through you—Linel
25. Stand at the door of your consciousness and allow only good intentions, thoughts, ideas, and expressions of truth, beauty, and spiritual value to enter—Alfana
26. All things work together in harmony when love is the motive, service is the intention, and faith is the vehicle—Aflana
27. Like the diamond, your faith has a cutting edge which will carve a pathway through many boulders of doubt and resistance—LorEl
28. Take the very aspect of who God is—truth, beauty, and goodness—and bring them into your life; that you may be perfect even as He is—Daniel
